The Amana Colonies

In 1854, a group of God-fearing people of West German, Swiss and Alsatian ancestry left New York state—where they first settled in this country—and founded seven villages in the fertile fields of Iowa. They established their own woolen mills, furniture factory, meat processing plants and other industries which provided the villages with essential necessities of life. Each member contributed some particular skill, which was learned and passed on in apprenticeship fashion.

The excellence of Amana products soon attracted the attention of the outside world. To this day the Amana Colonies enjoy a reputation for superb workmanship. Today, new traditions blend with the old...20th century efficiency with time honored craftsmanship.

The Amana Colonies are a pleasant place to visit year round. The original Amana Meat Shops, Woolen Mills and Furniture Factory sell products still made in the old world way. The Museum of Amana History provides a fascinating look into Amana's history and culture.

Special events are held in the Amanas throughout the year. Maifest celebrates the coming of spring. In July and early August the famed Lotus Lily of the Amana Lily Lake is in full bloom. In October, many visitors come to join in the gay festivities of the annual "Oktoberfest." A Prelude to Christmas during the holiday season offers a sampling of Christmastime in the Amanas.
